Yellow warning
Wind

Between 07:00 Wed 2 Nov 2022 and
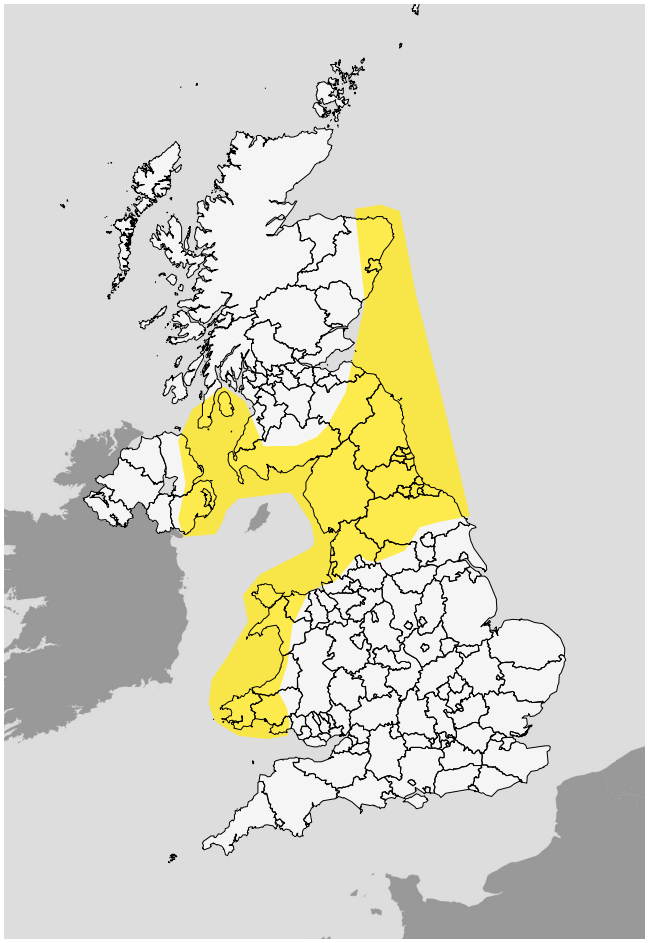
21:00 Wed 2 Nov 2022



A spell of very windy weather will affect Irish Sea coastal areas, before spreading to parts of northern England and Scotland.

What to expect

- Some delays to road, rail, air and ferry transport are likely
- Probably some bus and train services affected, with some journeys taking longer
- Delays for high-sided vehicles on exposed routes and bridges likely
- Some short term loss of power and other services is possible
- It's likely that some coastal routes, sea fronts and coastal communities will be affected by spray and/or large waves

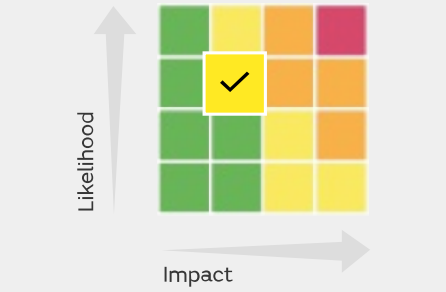
Further details

A spell of very strong southerly or southwesterly winds will affect some western coastal areas during Wednesday, before spreading inland during the afternoon and affecting eastern Scotland later. Gusts of 55-65 mph are expected, especially in exposed coastal locations and over higher routes, with some sudden strong gusts of wind possible at times.

A band of heavy rain will also accompany the very strong winds.

Reason for update

Warning area extended further north over parts of Scotland.



Medium likelihood of low impacts
